Although federal law prohibits non-citizens from voting in federal elections, local election laws in many places could allow illegal aliens to vote. For example, in Wisconsin a student ID is all you need to vote. In Minnesota, you don't even need an identifiable address, "I live under the bridge" would work.

Which party makes it easier for illegal aliens to vote, and has admitted nearly 10 million illegal aliens in the last three years?

Well, that would be Democrats.
